PAGEANT TO BE STAGED BY OLD CHRIST CHURCH

Will Commemorate the One Hundredth Anniversary of Missionary Work

WORK OF AUXILIARY

First Woman's Missionary Society Organized Here, Which Later Became Woman's Auxiliary.

This fall the Protestant Episcopal Church all over the United States is commemorating its one hundredth anniversary of its definitely organized missionary work. Prior to 1774, the church of England in America was dependent upon the mother church but from the Revolutionary period until 1821, it was chiefly struggling for existence. Then assured of its permancy and growing strength it started on a new era and one hundred years ago began a systematic missionary program, and fifty years ago the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions was created on October 15, 1871, and the church is, now through out the length and breadth of the land, joyfully celebrating its 100th anniversary and the Woman's Auxiliary its jubilee year.

This is the third, the culminating year of the Nation Wide Campaign and part of the program of this compaign is to bring objectivcly before the people the great missionary lessons of the church, and in order to especially impress every beholder with its missionary spirit, a pageant has been written for and endorsed by the Presiding Bishop and Council of the church, to be put on as simply or as elaborately as each church may deem advisable.

It was in Christ Church, Alexandria, that the first Woman's Missionary Society was organized by Miss Jane Blackburn, who had married Mr. John Augustine Washington, then owner of Mount Vernon. She was the grandmother of Mrs. Eleanor S. W. Howard, who in memory of that grandmother proposed to erect in the church a memorial light by the lecturer, as proclaiming the gospel was the great desire of her life consecrated to missionary work. Later in 1871 this work developed into the Woman's Auxiliary. This was organized in New York in October, and in December of that year, the the first branch was established in Christ Church, so this is the oldest branch in the whole American church and Miss Sallie Stuart was appointed the first State President of Virginia, it being one of the first states organized in the country, and Miss Stuart held that office of State President most efficiently for 25 years. Missions hav ever been foremost in the minds of its members. The ordination services of the Virginia Theological Seminary were held in Chirst Church from 1827 to 1855, and those who gave their lives to Africa were Savage, Minor, Fayne, Henning and Colden Hoffman, while Cleveland Keith devoted his life to China.

Bishop Lloyd consecrated at Church, his home church, left his office as coadjutor of Virginia to accept the position of President of the Board of Missions in New York.

It was therefore fitting that Christ Church should take the lead in putting on this pageant in memory of her sons and daughters whose missionary spirit was so strong, and she has invited her sister churches, St. Paul's and Grace Church to join with her in this celebration.

This service is not for amusement or entertainment, but is for the purpose of symbolizing a great spiritual truth, and is a solemn and reverential occasion.

STATE NEWS

Richmond—The largest crowd which has assembled at any political meeting in Chesterfield in years was on hand at the Courthouse yesterday afternoon to welcome Senator E. Lee Trinkle, Democratic nominee for Governor, and to hear the speech which he delivered from the bench in the courtroom, Judge Robert G. Southall with several of the leading citizens, both men and women of the county and many visitors from Richmond, sat behind the railing.

The body of the building was crowded to suffication, while a large crowd, unable to enter, stood at and about the windows in the courthouse yard. The enthusiasm was, at times, unbounded. At the conclusion of his address, which lasted for nearly two hours, a woman apprached Senator Trinkle and said: "While I have been in sympathy with Republican views for several years and voted the Republican ticket in the last presidental election, you have convinced me that I was wrong in so doing, and from now on, I will keep within the Democratic fold.

In addition to Mr. Moore, a number of thirty-third degree Masons, including Dr. McCormick of Mobile; Frank Latham, of Alexandria, Va., and R. S. Crump, supreme deputy, of Richmond have been invited to attend the reunion here this fall.

Staunton—Monterey, county seat of Highland County, was awakened shortly after midnight by a tremendous explosion audible throughout the entire town. A number of residences shaken.

The cause of the blast was the placing of dinamite in the barn of J. M. Colaw by unidentified parties. The charge was a heavy one, and the structure was entirely demolished.

No clue has been discovered, and no motive given for the act. Blood hounds were sent from here. No report has been received. Mr. Colaw was succeeded September 22 as Mayor of Monterey by J. E. Arbogast.

Fredericksburg—While incarcerated in jail here before being taken to Richmond, Roger Eastlake, accused with Miss Sarah Knox of murdering his wife at Colonial Beach, put up $15 as collateral for a U. S. Marine, who was locked up with him on a charge of intoxication. Eastlake named a "trusty" as heir to the $15, when the Marine appeared for trial, but as the latter has not reappeared the collateral was forfeited, and the 'trusty" is mourning over the loss of the money.

Danville—Teh bronze marker for the Confederate Memorial Mansion which arrived here a few days ago was this morning fixed to the outer wall of the building and this afternoon at 3 o'cloc kit was unveiled with short and appropriate ceremonies.

DUMBNESS COST 10

Man Sitting At Gambling Table Didn't Know Gambling In Progress—Other Court Notes

"I am a Christian and don't gamble," said a young colored man who was only one of eight taken yesterday afternoon by Policemen Magner and Nowland in a raid on a 'skin" game at 312 Princess street, to appear in court today. This part satisfied the court till it asked if the men were gambling. The prisoner declared he did not know, although the officers alleged he was sitting on a bench when the raid was made. Simply because he did not know it cost him $10. The court told him this statement proved his undoing The seven others forfeited $5 collateral each.

A colored man named James Clark, whose automobile yesterday afternoon made an ineffectual effort to enter the banking house of Burke and Herbert, declared his brakes failed to work. He was acquitted. A colored man arrested by Policeman Magner for speding, forfeited $5.

OFFICE HERE CLOSED

Mrs. Olive Jones Whitmer Goes to D. C.

The office of Mrs. Olive Jones Whitmer, who for the past eighteen months has been located in Alexandria with headquarters in the rooms of the chamber of commerce, has been closed. The reason for its closing was that the government appropriation for this work is exhausted. Mrs. Whitmer is now located in Washington. While here she was connected with the U. S. Interdepartmental Bureau.

There is some talk among the women of the city of the establishment of a somewhat similar bureau here for this work to be maintained by the city and also of the necessity for a policewoman and the matter already is being agitated.

CONFERENCE ON IRISH QUESTION REOPENS TODAY

Lloyd George and His Conferees Arrange Meeting With Sinn Fein Delegates

SPEECH OF WELCOME

British Premier, Members of Cabinet and Officials of Irish Office Discuss Plans for Meeting.

London, Oct. 11.—The Prime Minister and other representatives of the British Government and the delegates of the Dail Eireann will face each other across the conference table in the Cabinet room at No. 10 Downing street, the Premier's official residence, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The program for the first day takes the form of open conversation with a view to arriving at some definite basis upon which negotiations looking to an Irish settlement can proceed.

Mr. Lloyd George, members of the Cabinet and several officials of the Irish Office discussed for an hour and a half this afternoon tomorrow's conference. It is understood that the procedure favored is a speech of welcome by the Prime Minister, after which he will outline the methods the Government proposes for dealing with the various phases of the question. Arthur Griffith, the Sinn Fein leader, is expected to reply.

Either side may, however, raise some controversial subject. There is the question of the release of the interned men, which many people in Ireland are urging on their delegates. One of the delegates said today that it was not the intention to mention this subject for the present. Nevertheless the Government is preparing a reply to such a request and has summoned Gen. Sir Nevil Macready and General Tudor, of the forces in Ireland, and the head of the police from Dublin to advise the Government should the proposal be made.

The services of these generals also will be useful when arrangements are suggested for stricter observance of the truce, which both the Government and Sinn Feiners desire. Both General Macready and General Tudor have been charged by Sinn Fein with provoking the people, and their orders to come to London confirms the impression that the intention is to avoid all causes of friction.

Another matter which Mr. Lloyd George has been publicly asked to bring before the conference is Sinn Fein boycott on English goods, which has been hurtful to British trade and has caused much irritation here. It is not likely that the conference will concern itself with this at this stage or that Sinn Fein will agre to remove the boycott except as part of trade policy, following upon a settlement.

NOTICE TO MASONS

All who will furnish automobiles for entertaining the visiting members of William L. Elkins Lodge tomorrow are requested to meet at Washington and Cameron Streets at 9 o'clock tomorrow, Wednesday, morning to put numbers and pennants on their cars.

VICTORY ON TAX PROGRAM GOES TO WESTERNERS

All "Agricultural Bloc" Amendments Are Accepted By Republican Leaders

12 CHANGES VOTED

Readjustment of Surtaxes and Increased Taxes on Estates Included In Changes.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Chairman Boies Penrose and the Republican majority of the Finance Committee formally yielded today to the "agricultural bloc" and the insurgent Republican and Democratic coalition that demanded radical changes in the Taxation bill reported by the committee 10 days ago.

The Senate committee accepted and voted into the big practically every change demanded in the Western group of Senators that threatened to join with the Democrats and defeat the entire measure unless amended. The virtual rewriting of a Taxation bill once reported by the Senate committee is practically, if not wholly, without precedent in that body. Changes made were fundamental, although Senator Penrose sought to explain that they were the result of "party council" and not a revolt, an dthat the committee had merely "perfected" the bill.

While many of the changes made are satisfactory to the Democrats, teh bill is not yet approaching perfection from the Democratic viewpoint. The indications are, therefore, that the Democrats will vote for the amendments which they, in part, sponsored and then vote agaisnt teh bill on final passage.

Senator Penrose thinks that, in view of the agreement now reached, it will be possible t osend the measure to the White House by the end of October.

The tax program, as adopted today, includes:

1. Readjustment of income surtaxes, with a maximum of 50 per cent on incomes in excess of $200,000.

2. Increases in estate taxes, retaining the present rate on estates up to $15,000,000 an dimposing a tax of 30 per cent. on estates between $15,000,000 and $25,0000,000, 35 per cent, between $25,000,00

RULES FOR RIGHT LIVING:—Let all bitterness, and wrath, and anger, and clamour, and evil speaking, be put away from you, with all malice: and be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you.—Ephesians 4: 31, 32.

Two Actresses Held For Movie Man's Death

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—Two actresses are in jail on suspicion of murder and police are engaged in an exhausive hunt for three unidentified men, following the mysterious death early yesterday morning of Al Stein, 26 years old, assistant director of the Century Film Corporation.

An alleged liquor orgy in Stein's apartments late Saturday night also is being investigated as a result of the autopsy surgeon's report that the film director apparently died from acute alcoholism.

Telegrams and notations bearing on the Arbuckle case in San Francsico were found in Stein's apartment and have deepened the mystery while adding to its more sensational aspect. Investigation by the detectives disclosed that Stein was assistant to Fred Fishback, the motion picture director who was a guest at the liquor party given by Roscoe Arbuckle in San Francisco which resulted in the death of Miss Virginia Rappe. The officers are attempting to get in touch with Fishback, who is known to have been a close friend of Stein.

The women under arrest are Mrs. Jeanne Munroe, 22 years of age, and Miss Mildred Frances Bellwin, 22 years old, a chorus girl who has gone under the stage name of "Billie Desly's."

Detective Sergeants Box and Thompson answered a call to Stein's apartment about 3:30 a. m. They found Stein on the floor dead, his head propped up on two pillows There was no sign of violence except for a two-inch scratch on his left cheek. He had been dead for approximately four hours.

The two girls stated that Mr. Stein had come home shortly before midnight with three men, all apparently under the influence of liquor. The men remained less than half an hour. An hour later Stein rolled from his bed in great agony, gasping for breath. Mrs. Munroe said she called two physicians, but only one responded. She did not remember his name. Carl M. Stein, the brother, also was summoned. He arrived just as Stein died. The coroner was notified and the body was removed.

It was pointed out by the directors at their meeting yesterday afternoon that the heavy traffic is considerably damaging this road. A committee also will be appointed for the purpose of taking up the question of having the Belgian block roadway at the south end of the highway bridge improved.

The directors tendered a vote of thanks to James R. Caton and his committee and to Theodore Harris and the Alexandria Gazette for their splendid work in connection with the recent council manager election.

Announcement was made that the film gotten up for the retail merchants of the city by a Washinggton concern will be displayed at the chamber of commerce the night of October 20.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(By Isaac Gregg)

Off The Beaten Path.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Yesterday was fish day at the White House. No, it was not Friday, but it was fish day day nevertheless and nothwithstanding. And it all came about in this way Clarence England, file clerk at the Executive Mansion, and one of the disciples of Izaak Walton, went fishing last Saturday along with a companion no less skilled in the art of angling than England. Just where the two went, England is keeping a dark secret. He will admit that it was "somewhere on the lower Potomac and very inaccessible." Be this as it may, England brought back to the White House with him this morning 68 big, fine handsome, big mouth bass, not one of which weighed less than two pounds. He stretched them out in the file room and the exhibit was enough to make any man's mouth water. Incidentally, the President came out of his workroom to get a glimpse of the fish and it would not be surprising if the Chief Executive tries his hand at the bass if England will only tell his chief where they can be found. England says the total catch was 106 bass.

"We threw the small ones back into the Potomac," he said.

Mrs. Harding the First Lady of the White House. Heretofore, when visitors wished to get a glimpse of the Land. has smashed another precedent since she became mistress of the lower floor of the Executive Mansion, they were compelled to get a note from their Senator or Congressman directed to the Private Secretary to the President. He, in turn, would turn over the sight-seer to "Pat" McKenna, who has been on guard outside the Secretary's office for twenty years. "Pat" would make out the necessary credentials and then the stranger in Washington would be shown through some of the private apartments of the White House, such as the Blue, Green and Red Rooms, in addition to the big East Room. But the other day, Mrs. Harding saw a number of strangers standing on the outside of the White House and inquired what their presence meant. She was informed that tney had no cards of admission to the Executive Mansion.

"Never mind about that," said Mrs. Harding to the policeman on guard, "just let these people in. They are American citizens and have just as much right to see the White House as I have."

And now no card of admission is necessary and the Senators and Congressmen who have used this privilege as a sop to their constituents are somewhat chagrined at the action of Mrs. Harding.

Mrs. Zihlman, wife of Representative Zihlman of Maryland is beginning to feel the effects of motherhood. The Zihlman's some two months ago, adopted a baby girl and are now raising it just as if it had been their own child. Recently the Congressman was ordered to Atlantic City for a two weeks rest.

"Mrs. Zihlman, you must remain in Washington and take care of baby," admonished the family physician Ami so, Mrs. Zihlman was compelled to give up a two weeks' trip to the seashore.

Not many evenings ago, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the dean of the House in point of age and service, was a dinner guest of a friend from Maryland.

At the end of the repast, "Uncle Joe" produced a long black cigar which he said had been presented to him by a Texan. Major Whipple, his host, asked him if he was not afraid to smoke such strong cigars at his advanced age.

"No, replied "Uncle Joe," "They don't make 'em too strong for me."

Then the Major asked him if he ever smoked cigars soaked in rum.

"No, indeed," was the reply. "I take mine separately."

William Tyler Page Clerk of the House of Representatives who is author of the "American's Creed," has been employed almost continuously by the national government for 39 years. The late Champ Clark accused Page of having been born in the Capitol. Page was first employed as a page in the Clerk's office in 1881 and by energy and intelligence worked himself up to the top of the ladder. He was much amused to receive in his mail recently a letter addressed to "William Tyler, Chief of the Pages." Page in answering the letter wrote: "My wife is the chief of the Pages."

HOYT WINNER OVER GIANTS IN FIFTH GAME

Babe Ruth Startles Crowd By Bunting in Front of Plate. Giants Outguessed

FINAL SCORE 3 to 1

"Bob" Meusel's Double Scores Ruth With First Run Hits 500 for the Day and Fields Brilliantly.

New York, Oct. 11.—A bunt in a baseball game doesn't hold a candle to a home run as a spectacular feat, but a little bunt which "Babe" Ruth laid down on the grass at the Polo Grounds today showed how much importance sometimes is attached to the less sensational performance.

The "Babe's" home run in the ninth inning of Sunday's game was for the Yankees as a team just one more run and nothing more. His bunt in the fourth inning of today's game, the fifth in the 1921 world series, proved the turning point of the contest, which was won by the American Leaguers by the score of 3 to 1 over their National League opponents.

Waite Hoyt, the boy wonder from the Flatbush section, of Brooklyn, pitched the Yankees to their third vistory in the series, his potent right arm being aided by some great defensive work on the part of his team mates in holding the Giants' scoring proclivities to a minimum. He had been scored upon in the first inning, a nerror by McNally paving the way to the Giants' only tally, but the Yankees tied the score in the third when "Mike" McNally was passed by Art Nehf, the Giants' crack left hander, went to third on Wally Schang's double and came home on Elmer Miller's sacrifice fly.

Then to start the fourth for the Yankees, Ruth, who had struck out his first time up. did the unexpected and laid down a bunt. The Giant infield was taken completely by surprise and Ruth landed safely on first The way had been opened for a tally, and Ruth scored it a moment later on "Bob" Meusel's hot double to left, which his brother Emil on the Giant team, seemed somewhat slow in handling. This ultimately proved to be the winning run for the Yankees, but another was speedily added when Meusel scored an Aaron Ward's sacrifice fly.

That ended the scoring for the day. Hoyt, who had seemed a bit unsteady, in the early innings, settled down behind his two run lead and pitched a heady game, which had the big guns in the Giant line-up guessing when safe blows were necessary to put runs across. The youthful Yankee twirler was hit more freely than in his shut out game of last Thursday, as the ten safeties for the National Leaguers attest, but he would have had another scoreless game to his credit with a little better luck in the first inning, which witnessed the Yankees' only fielding hobble, a mess made by McNally of George Burns' hard bounder. As it was, the Flatbush boy won the honor of being the first box man to win two games in the present series and of holding teh heavy hitting men of the McGraw clan to one solitary run in eighteen innings.

, uytherfiyout- ?eohba-' ,Z Mha a w

Both on the offensive and defensive sides of the Yankees' play, the work of "Bob" Meusel stood out conspicuously. The lanky hight fielder of the Hugman hit 500 for the day, with a single and a double in four times up, his double, as related, scoring Ruth with the run needed to win the game, and his own crossing of the plate directly afterward, making the Yankees two up on their opponents.

Y. M. C. A. COOK BOOK

Famous Virginia Recipes to be Published

Alexandria's "eats" reputation has traveled far. As a result of this enviable reputation the local Y. M. C. A. has had an invitation to furnish some of the local recipes that have made this city famous for an Association cook book that is to be issued in the third edition by the Grand Forks, North Dakota Association real soon.

Several years ago the boy's department of that Association concieved the idea of publishing a "Y" cook book and the first edition was quickly sold out. A second edition was then issued and it was also soon disposed of. It was then decided to make the third edition more than a local affair and the appeal to the local Association is to give the book a touch of Virginia's famous diches.

The Local Association has turned the matter of supplying Alexandria and Virginia recipes over to Miss Cora Cochran and it is safe to say that the book will contain no recipes superior to those that the popular local caterer will supply. The local Association will present Miss Cochran with one of the first copies of the cook book that comes from the press.

FAIRFAX HARRISON'S APPEAL

We are in receipt of a letter written by Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway, sent to us by the State Republican Campaign Headquarters at Richmond, which is in the nature of an appeal to Virginians to forsake the faith of their fathers and vote for the Republican candidate for governor this year. We publish same elsewhere in today's issue.

Mr. Harrison's reasons for his own change of faith are not at all convincing, and unless he can furnish weightier argument to his fellow-citizens, will make few or no converts. He prefers Anderson to Trinkle, apparently because of his intimate personal acquaintance with the former and a consequent belief that he is the better man. Mr. Harrison is the president of one of the largest railway systems in the south, and it may be that he has had personal or professional dealings with Col. Anderson, as an attorney, that have been mutually agreeable and thus conducive to a friendly if not somewhat biassed opinion. For our own part we would rather listen to the personal opinions of any half-dozen farmers in a country store at the cross-roads, or the merchants in Trinkle's little home town of Wytheville, and would consider their expressions as on a parity with the views of a railway president as to the proper man for a governor of Virginia.

Mr. Harrison wants a Republican state administration, basing his preference on the Democratic record for the past twenty years. But he maintains a sphinx-like silence on the record of the Republican party's erstwhile state administration in Virginia. We are willing at any time to compare the two and go before the people on the record.

Mr. Harrison claims to be an Independent in politics, although he inconsistently says he has loyally supported the Democratic party in the past whenever he has voted. On some occasions, however, he confesses he has staid away from the polls, thus violating the precepts of his chief, President Harding, as set forth in a right recent letter to Republicans in Virginia. Last year, he says he voted the Republican ticket nationally while supporting the remainder of the Democratic ticket. For the same reasons, he says, he is going to vote for the Republican nominee for governor this year. Still, Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway, says he does not deem himself a Republican. For the third time in his brief polemic he betrays a fear lest he be taken for a Republican. It has all the ear-marks of a guilty conscience. Is he, then, ashamed of being thought a Republican? He says he voted the Republican national ticket last year. He says he is going to vote for the Republican gubernatorial candidate this year. Yet he says he has not affiliated with the Republican party; that others in the Eighth Congressional district voted with him last year for Republican nominees with no intention of becoming Republicans; and that he has now turned to Col. Anderson without thereby deeming himself a Republican.

Why this rather strenuous denial of being a Republican? Col. Anderson well may exclaim with the man in the play: "Perhaps it was right to dissemble your love, but—why did you kick me down stairs?"

Mr. Harrison further says he is "by tradition and training as tender on the point of honor as any among you." We presume he means "by tradition," "inheritance"—and probably alludes to a line of distinguished ancestry. He is referring to the obligation of those voters who attended the Democratic Primary last August, to vote for the Democratic nominee. This may be a matter of taste and therefore not open to dispute. But we prefer to believe that any Democrat who attended a Republican primary would be subsequently repudiated by his party, and advised to flock with those of his own feather; we could not advisedly say "color" in this instance. The participation in any primary should at least have a semblance of good faith. To vote in a primary and refuse to abide by the decision is in some sort betrayal and double-dealing. We are somewhat diffident in applying this conclusion to Mr. Fairfax Harrison, since he has informed us that he is by "tradition and training as tender on the point of honor as any." So we prefer to call it a matter of taste, and let it go at that.

We regret that apparently the writer of the letter does not know better the Democratic nominee for governor this year. All the good things he says about his friend Anderson are equally applicable to Lee Trinkle—and then some! The latter is likewise "in the prime of life, full of physical vigor, and successful in his own affairs." Emphatically, he is no man's man, nor the candidate of any machine. His speeches, to our mind, are on even a higher level than that claimed for those of the Republican candidate.

All in all, the letter of Mr. Harrison to his neighbors, and sent out from the State Republican Campaign Headquarters in Richmond, is what the lawyers would call a plea in confession and avoidance. It is on the defensive from beginning to end, and that is in itself an admission of weakness.

LETTER FROM FAIRFAX HARRISON ON THE GOVERNORSHIP

To my Neighbors:

I am supporting Henry W. Anderson for Governor because I know him well and believe him to be the best man who now offers for that high office. I believe also in the platform on which he stands—which in substance is that the administration of the affairs of the Commonwealth should now be changed on the record of management by the party which has been in power under the present Constitution for the past twenty years.

I have not affiliated with the Republican party. My politics are independent. I have, in the past, loyally supported the Democratic party whenever I have voted, though on some occasions I have felt it necessary to stay away from the polls. In the national campaign last year, from deep conviction of national welfare and after painful moral travail, I voted for a change of national administration, while supporting all the remainder of the democratic ticket I was thus one of the four thousand voters in the Eighth Congressional District who did this, with no intention of becoming Republicans. For similar motives I have now turned to Col Anderson, without thereby deeming myself a Republican, to accomplish the same end in Virginia.

I have known Col. Anderson for many years, have worked for Virginia with him and have learned to respect him as a publicist as well as a man of character and force. He is a Virginian of Virginians and has demonstrated his inheritance of the best Virginia traditions by practical patriotism. For many years an active participant in all movements for the welfare and advancement of the Commonwealth in education and industrial progress he has distinguished his career at the bar by solid learning, independence of judgment and high attainment. When war came he volunteered for such service as might be assigned to him and was sent to the Balkans wearing the uniform of the United States army. There, on behalf of the American Red Cross, he successfully administered relief to the distressed people of a territory as large as our entire South. His native parts, his education and his experience have thus fitted him for further public service, and with large sacrifice of opportunity for mere money making, he is now willing to give his time for you and me.

The platform on which he stands, and Col. Anderson's speeches in elucidation of it, are expressions of real statesmanship, far above the parochial politics and personalities on which we have been fed. Above partisanship, he is convinced that Virginia needs the political stimulus of two parties not only to resume, but to hold, her place in the sun. Being in the prime of life, full of physical vigor, successful in his own affairs, he has with such ideals now offered himself as the leader of a movement against the Democratic party machine, after first stipulating for and securing a complete purge of the race question from the Republican organization in the Commonwealth.

Anderson is no man's man. He was not put forward by any one. It was his own inspiration and his own constructive ability which produced the Norfolk platform—that state paper which is destined to be a lighthouse in the history of political freedom in the South. He has, moreover, shown his courage, not only by repelling all suggestions of mere expedience in dealing with the negro vote, but by standing firmly on the responsibility of every true American against the most serious menace of our civilization today—disrespect of the law. To his honor, he has declared himself, in ringing tones, for a vigorous and sincere enforcement of the prohibition law.

Such a man is needed today in the public life of Virginia, for Virginia needs courageous and independent leadership if the State government is to be so administered that taxes may be curtailed, and in local affairs we may return to the Jeffersonian principle of confidence in the people

Many of you, who voted in the recent Democratic primary and who may respond with sympathy to these sentiments, have been disturbed by representations that you are bound in honor, regardless of any opinion you may now have, to support the nominee of the Democratic party. This qualm does you credit. I believe I am by tradition and training as tender on the point of honor as any among you. If I felt that you were so bound I would not urge you now to waiver. But I do not believe you are bound at all. No man is bound by a game of cards unless the rules are uniformly enforced on all players. In the high game of politics at the recent primary the rules, whatever they were, were not uniformly enforced. It is reported that the obligation now urged on you is based upon a resolution of the State Democratic committee, but it was not published in advance nor was it printed on the ballot. For one, I asked for access to this resolution before the primary was held, but was unable to see it. As to its enforcement, I am told, by men whose word I can take, that in some localities Republicans, as well as independents, were permitted—nay, in instances, solicited—to vote in the primary without obligation, provided only their intentions to support the machine candidate in the primary were known. More than this, it is known to all that in many parts of the State the rule—as doubtful in law as it was politically inexpedient—of exclusion from the primary of those who had voted "split" tickets last November was sometimes enforced and sometimes not enforced. As these discriminations and variations on a point of the utmost delicacy seemed to be dictated by mere party expediency, they destroyed confidence, as they did that of many others, in the primary itself.

More than that, it may fairly be asked what, in the present crisis, is our highest political obligation. Is it to anything less than our beloved Virginia? There is no doubt how the men and women of '76 and '61 answered that query. Whatever their previous politics had been they did not consider themselves bound by party ties when they heard the trumpet blast of political freedom. It was a moral issue they faced, and so do you today.

I believe, for these reasons, that all of you are now free to express your convictions at the approaching election.

For years I have heard many of you say that you were weary of existing political conditions. Here is your first real opportunity to assert yourselves—to vote independently. I urge you, therefore, to vote for Anderson and a change of administration in Virginia.

(Signed) FAIRFAX HARRISON.

BUTTER INSPECTORS WILL SHOW WORK AT NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

In the past butter makers have often been in the dark as to the real quality of the butter they put upon the market, and frequently they feel that they have not been fairly treated by commission men and others inthe markets. But the creamery man is not without friends. for the United States Department of Agriculture offers him an inspection service that stands almost as a court of last resort. Any person who wants this service may have it by applying for it The Government inspectors examine butter in cars, in storage, or in stores, and the certificates they issue stand in court, but they seldom get that far, as they are almost universally accepted.

At the National Dairy Show to be held in St. Paul, Minn., October 8 to 15. butter inspectors will show how they do their work, and exhibits that have been prepared by the department will show the great advantage that coms from marketing butter of a high grade. On the face of it but. ter that scores 88 would not sem to eb much inferior to that which scores 92. but it will be shown that the spread of price between these two grades is very large, far greater than the difference in cost of manufacture. As Poor Richard might have said: "A little better butter makes a much bigger bank balance."

NEW MEDICAL DIRECTOR

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 10.—Dr. William Edward Brown, former first assistant to the director of the Catawba Sanatorium and connected with the tubercular work of the State Board of Health for the past five years, has been appointed superintendent and medical director of the Blue Ridge Sanatorium, the state institution for the care and treatment of tuberculosis, located near Charlottesville. He succeeds Dr. Walter C. Klotz who resigned to accept a similar position at Johnson City, Tenn.

In addition to his work at the Santorium, Dr. Brown will also instruct students of the medical department of the University of Virginia in the diagnosis and treatment of the disease of the chest. The establishment of the Blue Ridge Sanatroium several years ago has greatly increased the facilities of the medical department of the University and has furnished the clinical opportunities for the University students to study tuberculosis.

Dr. Brown is a native Virginian, and a brother of Sinclair Brown, well known Virginia legislator. He is a graduate of the Baltimore Medical College and has been engaged in tubercular work for the State Board of Health and for the State Tubercular Association for the past several years.

During the war Dr. Brown was an instructor in the army tubercular camp at New Haven, Conn., and studied under some of the most noted tubercular experts in the country. His wide experience and the reputation he has gained by his work throughout the state notably in diagnastic clinics, eminently qualified Dr. Brown as the head of this important state institution.

Idle Men and Idle Money

Rev. Dr. D. H. Martin Delivers Address at Trinity M. E. Church

Rev. Dr. D. H. Martin, ex-chairman Draft Board No. 1 and civic worker, Sunday night at Trinity M. E. Church, in a speech on "The Jobless" said:

"Idle men and Idle money! That's the trouble with our country. Both should be at work. Idle money is as great a menace as idle men. In a little over two years the banks have called in over three billions of dollars on loans! There never was so much money on deposit in our banks as now! 7,000,000 idle men! never so many idle men as now. The Government should find a way to make this idle money provide employment for these idle men. These idle men should not only be put to work, but put to work at a wage that would enable them to live comfortably and with self-respect.

If the Government continues to permit the profiteers to keep up the cost of living then the workingman should have a wage that will permit him to keep up with the cost of living A rich government like ours surely will not permit men turned out of jobs or reduced in wages to a point where ther will become subject of charity. While we are taking care of a large part of the rest of the world let us not fail to find work for our own people and at a wage that will permit them to live like human beings."

Barnett, 1307 King street, and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and burial will be in Bethel cemetery.

GYMNASIUM CLASSES

First Sessions at Westminister Building Largly Attended

Four Y. M. C. A. gymnasium classes had their first sessions at the Westminister building yesterday afternoon and evening. The classes have begun a fifteen weeks' course which will carry them over the holidays. They are all held at the Westministed building where considerable equipment and shower baths make the work very much like real "gym" work.

The first class was that of the girl scouts which was filled quickly forty girls taking their places on the floor soon after the first command to "fall-in." The girls were practically all school girls who had had some work in physical training and easily took to the class program They will meet at 3:30 each Monday afternoon.

The second class of the day was that of business and professional men, although any member of the Y. M. C. A. is elegible. The class was not large in enrollment for the first day, but made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers. The men were given a work-out with the medicine ball and then taken to the mats for some "abdominal" work and one man said he had secured his money's worth in the one lesson.

The men's class will meet at 5:15 each Monday and any member is invited to attend. The third class met at 7 p. m and was that of the Pioneers. All Pioneers of the City are eligible for this class and last year nearly fifty boys took advantage of the training. Some of the troops of the city have no leader and they are skirmishing around for one in order to enter the class—a leader being necessary before they can enroll.

The last class of the evening was for ladies and it was well filled also. The class is held under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary and is a continuation of the splendid class of last year. The ladies were many of them familiar with the work and had no difficulty in following the class program from the start. This class will meet at 8 p. m. each Monday evening.

The physical directory in charge of the gymnasium classes is the secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. who has been a physical director in the leading high schools, colleges and Y. M. C. A.'s in both the United States and Canada for many years. He has ambitions for the future of the work and believes the time will not be far distant when Alexandria will have superior advantages along physical education lines.

HOW WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

May Escape the Dreaded Sufferings of that Period by Taking Mrs. Block's Advice

Hopkins, Minn.—"During Change of Life I had hot flashes and suffered for two years. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and got good results from taking it. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish this fact as a testimonial."—Mrs. ROBERT BLOCK, Box 542, Hopkins, Minn.

It has been said that not one woman in a thousand passes this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, sinking spells, spots before the eyes, dizzy spells, nervousness, are only a few of the symptoms. Every woman at this age should profit by Mrs. Block's experience and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about your health. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Skin Diseases Due To Waste Products In The Blood

For Genuine Relief Your Blood Must Be Purified.

For real, downright, harrassing discomfort, very few disorders can approach so-called skin diseases, such as eczema, tetter, boils, eruptions, scaly irritations and similar skin troubles, notwithstanding the lavish use of salves, lotions, washes and other treatments applied externally to the irritated parts.

To correct the basic trouble—waste products—the blood must be purified. Don't clog your blood. Just clean it out. Nature will do the rest. Pure, rich, red blood nourishes the body and fights off disease.

S. S. S., the standard blood purifier and system builder, is the ideal remedy for skin eruptions. The effect of S. S. S. is to rid the system of the waste products which are causing the trouble. For over 50 years S. S. S. has proven to be of unusual merit. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 56 page illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free.

Personal medical advice, without charge, may also be had by sending a complete description of your case. Address Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 743 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. All good drug stores sell S. S. S.

"Kerosene costs only about half what it did last year"

A practical way to save coal this fall and winter

Ask your dealer about the Perfection Oil Heater Contest—$5,000.00 in prizes.

The Perfection Oil Heater will prove more economical in over a million homes this year than ever before. Coal prices have changed but little in the last twelve months, while Aladdin Security Oil, the best kerosene you can buy, has gone down nearly 50%.

The Perfection is an efficient heater. There's no waste of fuel, no ashes that represent many of the pounds that go to make up your ton of coal. Rooms and hallways that are used only a few minutes each day are an added source of wasted heat, greater, probably, than you imagine.

Use your coal heater to keep the whole house warm. Then in cold weather, instead of "rushing" the fire all day, make the living rooms comfortable by using a Perfection, just where you want it—in the bay window or the opposite side of the room from the radiator.

You can burn a Perfection for about 10 hours on a single gallon of kerosene. Your hardware or department store salesman will gladly point out its simple construction and smokeless wick adjustment to you.

DR. MARTIN'S MEASURES

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11—Eleven hundred and twenty-four persons were examined for tuberculosis at the Petersburg Health Center during the six day demonstration conducted by the Virginia Tuberculosis Association with the co-operation of the State and City Boards of Health.

Of the 1124 persons examined 610 were White and 514 Colored. Of the total number examined, 266 were found to be free from tuberculosis, 71 were classed as suspicious, 25 had the disease in its incipient stage, 11 were moderately advanced, 21 were advanced, 2 were quiescent and 2 arrested cases. Many other physical defects nearly all susceptible of correction, were found. 218 cases of diseased tonsils were found, 152 cases of bad teeth, 16 cervical glands, 15 thyroid enlargements and 41 heart affections.

Dr. R. A. Martin, Health Officer of Petersburg, expressed himself as being most gratified by the result of the demonstration which would do much to improve the health of the community. He said there were twice as many cases of tuberculosis in the ci... As had been previously reported by physicians, this being due to the fact that the examination found so many cases in their incipiency. Because of the early discovery of the disease many men and women, boys and girls can be spared years of sufffering and saved from untimely death.

As a result of the demonstration a permanent tuberculosis clinic will be established at the health center, for which purpose the Virginia Tuberculosis Association will return 75 per cent of the proceeds of the Petersburg sale of Christmas Seals. Dr. Martin declared he believed the people of Petersburg will show their gratitude by buying the Seals liberal...

One thousand dollars is the prize offered for the woman who has the most perfect back and five hundred dollars for the child with the best back. The contest is instituted by the National League for the Prevention in Spinal Curvature.

The award is to be made upon the evidence of side and back photographs sent to the league, together with a technical report from an osteopathic physician, located in the town where the contestant lives.

Dr. F. P. Millard, of Toronto, Ontario, the president of the league, will act as judge in awarding the prizes.

The league has instituted a vigorous campaign throughout the United States and Canada, for the purpose of saving children, and consequently the coming generation, from spinal curvature. Three quarters of the school children in this country have fautly spines. The percentage of incorrect backs in girls is even larger.

It is expected that this contest will not only arouse public interest in prevention of deformity and in establishing better posture, but it will produce a mass of statistics and photographic evidence which will be of vast value in the scientific consideration of this subject in the future. As osteopathic physicians specialize to such a large extent upon the spine, the league dcidd to require a report of the technical examination of every spine by an osteopath.

Activities of this organization are not limited to this hemisphere, as an endowed charitable clinic has recently been opened in London by its British branch.

An astonishing feature of the situation is that the majority of these cases of curvature are unsuspected by the children, teachers, parents and even by medical examiners themselves. The public thinks of spinal curvature as an obvious deformity which can be seen across the street. This is the condition which results from neglect of these cases in the early stages. Any deviation from the perfect perpendicular constitutes spinal curvature and should be detected in its incipiency in order that treatment may be instituted immediately. Treatment correctly administered in the very first stages prevents the gross deformity and accomplishes the result in a comparatively short time.

ORIGIN OF GAMES

Polo is of Eastern origin and has been a favorite pastime in Persia, Tartary and the frontiers of India from pre-historic times.

Golf is popularly supposed to have had its origin in Scotland, but there seems to be good reason for believing that it came from Holland, where golf balls were made in 1618.

Bowls or bowling is one of the most ppoular and ancient of English pastimes, It is traceable to the twelfth century and in the eighteenth century it was known as the royal game.

Baseball, the national pastime in the United States, was developed from the English game of rounders, and in its various forms has been known for more than a century.

Tennis is said to be the oldest of all "ball games." The date of its origin is debatable, but it has been established that it was one of the most popular sports of kings and nobles in the Middle Ages.

Billards is believed to have been brought from the East by the Crusaders, although it is also claimed that it is of English origin. There is also some color of proof to support the claim that it was developed by the French from ancient German game.

Chess always has been the subject of more dispute, regardingg its origin, than any other game. It is probably the oldest as well as the most intellectual of games and is played the world over. The belief generaluly accepted is that it came from Hindoees, and the most conservative estimate places its age at a thousand years, although some writers claim it was played four to five thousand years ago.

Reference to the use of dice to determine chance in sport, and often in important state matters, is found in the literature of almost all periods of history. India knew dice long before Columbus thought of seeking a Western continent. Dice were favorite gambling implements of ancient Rome and some writers profess to have traced gaming with dice back to the days of Babylon.

NEXT DOSE CALOMEL MAY SALIVATE YOU

It is Mercury, Quicksilver, Shocks Liver and Attacks Your Bones

Calomel salivation is horrible. It swells the tongue, loosens the teeth and starts rheumatism. There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for colomel. It is a pleasent vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Calomel is a dangerous drug, besides it may make you feel sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No salts necessary. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than treacherous calomel your money is waiting for you.

How to Be Healthy

The Crusade of the Double-Barred Cross
Practical Talks on Disease Prevention

Prepared by the
VIRGINIA TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION

(Practically every adult person is infected with tuberculosis. This infection need not be a source of danger. To keep the latent infection from becoming disease, bodily resistance must be kept at its best. This series of articles shows you how to keep healthy.)

THE NURSE AND PUBLIC HEALTH

By MARY E. MARSHALL, R. N.

ADAM was ill. The father of the race had his first pain. He held his arms folded across his abdomen and rocked slowly from side to side, emitting a dismal groan each time he did so. Finally his voice broke out in a long-drawn, forlorn wail, "I want a nurse," he cried. And Eve appeared.

Down through the ages it has been the self-appointed task of women, as wives, mothers, sisters or sweethearts, to mitigate the sufferings of all things sick and helpless. The tiny infant, the wounded soldier on the battlefield, the fever-tossed patient in the hospital, all are dependent on the ministrations and unselfish care of some woman.

It was a woman, Florence Nightingale by name, or "the lady with the lamp," as she was fondly called, who laid the cornerstone of our modern system of public health and hospital nursing.

"We must prevent the unnecessary number of infant deaths," writes the statistician. "We must discover tuberculosis early," says the diagnostician. "Take the proper treatment for consumption," says the sanatorium expert. But in the final analysis, the actual work of doing all these things lies in the hands of the nurse. The hospital nurse teaches the patient to care for himself after he leaves the institution, the public health nurse educates the family in disease prevention and infant care, and the industrial nurse gives first aid to the worker in shop and factory.

But with the best and most unselfish of intentions a woman cannot become a good nurse unless she has the proper equipment. She cannot discover tuberculosis in its early stages and send the patients to clinics for proper treatment unless she has had special training in the disease. Nor can she guide families from slovenly, unhygienic habits of living into wholesome, sanitary ones without a large supply of tact and understanding of human frailties.

The public is rapidly coming to appreciate the value of the nurse in public health work, but it does not as yet realize the importance of training and character in the making of a competent worker. The nursing profession is one of the most splendid in which a woman can be engaged, but it has been eclipsed as a desirable vocation by other professions because they offer better salaries, hours, and working conditions. There is a crying need for high grade women in the nursing profession. The public, which benefits from it, should make it possible for women to become trained nurses by offering them the same inducements that are offered in other fields. At this very moment enormous sums are needed to improve our training schools and to provide for special courses in various branches of public health nursing.

Only women with the highest qualifications should be admitted to a profession which deals so intimately with human life and happiness, but a nurse's work is more arduous, more exacting than most others, and improvements in conditions have not kept pace with improvements in other fields of labor. It therefore remains for the public to exert every effort to support a nursing service which can maintain the highest standards, by making the work sufficiently attractive. If it does not do this, nursing is in danger of degenerating into a profession of mental and social mediocrity.

Concerning Tarantulas and Bird Spiders.

TELLA, the Wishing Fairy, was sitting on the edge of a flower, which made a very nice swing, for the breeze swayed it to and fro, so that Stella was thoroughly enjoying herself. She was laughing and talking to Lorykins, Kinkajou and Snookums. As often happens, Pimzie was away.

"I wish Pimzie would come home!" exclaimed Snookums. "I miss him lots."

"He's been"—— Kinkajou began, when they all leaped up, for never had they heard such screams of terror.

"It's Pimzie!" cried Lorykins.

Stella jumped down from her flower seat.

"Poor Pimzie," she murmured anxiously; "and he's in trouble again!"

In trouble he was indeed! His eyes were almost popping out of his head and he was running as fast and screaming as hard as he could. Scarcely six inches behind him was a horrible, blackish spider bent on catching him. It was an enormous thing. Its body was about three inches long, while eight long, hairy legs stretched far out around him.

The other three Brownies sprang to their feet and Stella rushed toward Pimzie.

"How dare you!" she cried angrily to the spider. "How dare you try to attack one of us!"

The big spider stopped short.

"Who are you?" he asked in astonishment.

"I'm the Wishing Fairy," Stella answered; "and this is the End-of-the-Earth, where none but friends may come, and you were attacking my Pimzie! Who in the world are you? You seem to be an enemy."

By this time the spider was thoroughly frightened.

"Why, I am a Bird Spider," he stuttered nervously. "I thought—I—I"——

"Goodness!" Pimzie exclaimed. "I'm not a bird! Why were you chasing me?"

"I must confess," the Bird Spider said to Stella, "that I eat other things besides birds, and even though I am at least ten times larger than your Brownie he looked so fat and juicy that I wanted to eat him. I had no idea that he was a Brownie. I'm very sorry—I'm sorrier than I can possibly say and I hope you will forgive me."

"I thought," Stella said, "that you Bird Spiders only go around at night in search of food?"

"Quite true," was the answer, "but to-day I was so hungry that I did not wait for darkness. I was hurrying along on the lookout for insects or birds or even a frog to eat when suddenly I saw Pimzie. It was a terrible mistake."

"It surely was," the Fairy answered, "but I'm sure you'll be more careful after this. Where is your home?"

"Mine is in a silken tube that I've spun on a branch, but as a rule Bird Spiders live in the ground or in hollow logs which they line with silk, you know," he added. "Mrs. Bird Spider is much larger than I am."

"Well," cried Pimzie, "I'd say that you're quite big enough, but I though you were a 'Tarantula'!"

"Tarantulas are much smaller," the Bird Spider answered. "I'm as large as a small rat, while Tarantulas are only about two inches long. Also they are brown with a reddish brown stomach. Another thing," he added, "the bite of a Tarantula is awfully poisonous, and mine isn't. In fact, the Indians eat us."

"Horrible!" Pimzie exclaimed with a shudder.

"We think so," the Bird Spider answered, "but the Indians don't seem to. They eat us as a medicine."

Wash goods makers are learning the art, which has long been practiced by skillful blanket makers of giving a texture and finish to a cotton fabric that so closely resembles the real woolen material it can scarcely be detected to be cotton except by feeling it, and even then it is not easy. These are in wonderful colorings, and large plaid patterns, as well as striking broad stripes. There are plenty of the favorite black and white combinations among them also. They are so desirable for girls' and women's skirts as well as for children's dresses. Think of the price, an absurdly low one!

EPISCOPAL CHURCH ACTIVITY

Episcopalians here and throughout the county are much interested in the Nation-Wide Campaign, which was started in 1919 and is now entering on its third section, and cottage or church meetings will be held each week until late in November in all congregations. The object of these meetings is prayer and study the subjects to be discussed being "Our Parish," "Religious Education," "Christian Social Service," "Diocesan Missions," "Domestic and Foreign Missions," "Stewardship of Time and money," and "Stewardship of Life," while many of the leaders have already been appointed.

This campaign is far from being solely for financial gain, but is chiefly for the enrichment of the spiritual life of the church, having for its aim that every member shall be a worshipper, every worshipper a worker, every worker a giver and every giver a spiritual force, culminating in the gift of life. It will terminate in the every member canvas on November 20. The Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, D. D., bishop of Virginia, is ex-officio head of the movement, but the Rev. George McLaurer Brydon Secretary of the Diocese, is chairman of executive committee other members of which are the William D. Smith, D. D., the Rev. W. H. Burkhardt, and the Rev. V E. Cox.

If Virginia attains her goal she will give, as a result of the campaign, the volunteers to the mission field, the young men to the Christian ministry ten women for mountain work a many new workers in every parish teach Sunday School, sing in the choir and to be leaders of organizations. This is in addition to a comprehensive program put into force after the first year of the campaign, of the principal features of which was the development of religious education through the taking over of three schools and the founding of two others. These are; St. Christopher's and St. Catherine's, in Richmond, and St. Anne's in Charlottesville, all formerly conducted under private ownership; St. Margaret's, at Tappahannock, and Christ Church at Urbanna the first and last being for boys and the remainder for girls, and all low priced.

For the operation of these schools and other church enterprise, especially the assistance of struggling parishes, 270,000 for each of the three years, thus causing Virginia to make a very high record and giving a tremendous impetus for greater efforts in 1921. There are nineteen parishes in the diocese without ministers and of the twenty-six new students at theological seminary at Alexandria, only seven are from this commonwealth. That these conditions may be improved, 10,000 intercessors are needed and an equal number of proportionate givers.

The Best Gasoline Costs no More

DURING our many years' experience in producing gasoline we have discovered that the proper blending of basic crudes is necessary for a well-balanced fuel. And our access to practically every developed oil field has insured full utilization of the various types and grades of crude in exactly the proportions needed.

The improved "Standard" Motor Gasoline is produced through the efforts of our Development Department experts. These men have devoted their lives to the study of oil refining and the relation between the properties of oils and the uses to which they are adapted. "Standard" Motor Gasoline represents the fruit of their years of painstaking experimentation. It is uniform in quality, quick-firing, clean-burning. It is the best gasoline obtainable, and costs no more than any other.

The consistent use of "Standard" Motor Gasoline will go far towards correcting many of the more common difficulties of motoring. If your engine overheats or gives off vile exhaust gases, if your cylinders miss or carbonize quickly, if the oil in your crankcase becomes diluted, it is probable that you have been using the wrong gasoline.

Fill up with the improved "Standard". On sale wherever you see the familiar "S.O." sign. Remember—it costs no more.
